About The Transport Practitioners' Meeting

The Transport Practitioners' Meeting is a unique opportunity for transport professionals to engage with each other and inspire the profession.

The Transport Practitioners' Meeting (TPM) started in the 70s as the 'Summer Annual Meeting' – a place for the small and growing community of Transport Planners to get together, network and share ideas. The event has stayed true to its roots over the years, becoming the must-attend annual gathering for all transport planners, modellers, placemakers, and urban transport designers.

For over 20 years, we have brought together transport practitioners to be empowered to make transport a force for good. The world today faces unprecedented transport, logistics and planning challenges, making the conference an even more invaluable space to debate, share and engage. TPM provides a home for the profession, an arena to find common solutions, to ensure that transportation managers are ready to build a world that is better than before.

There is plenty of opportunity to get involved, be it presenting a poster or presentation, sponsoring a network session or simply soaking in the atmosphere – The Transport Practitioners' Meeting is a must attend event for any practitioner!

Please contact shania.mccalla@ptrc-training.co.uk for further information and to discuss all options.

TPM Sponsorship Opportunities

TPM serves as the annual meeting place for the wider transport and built environment community, offering two days of world-class networking, idea sharing, and spirited debate.

Joining TPM as a Sponsor or Exhibitor is an easy and affordable way to brand your organisation as a thought leader within the profession. TPM gives you exposure to industry experts and decision makers from across the sector, putting you in the middle of your target market. This event is the perfect way to make new contacts and get your brand noticed!

We are excited to be heading back to Manchester in 2026. The city's well-connected transport infrastructure, recent bus franchising and the expansion of the Bee Network made the perfect meeting point for 2025TPM. Manchester boasts a rich history of innovation and industrial heritage, making it an ideal backdrop for discussions on the future of transportation and promises to offer a compelling and engaging setting for the conference that encourages knowledge exchange, networking, and forward-thinking discussions.

We have price points for every budget, please see below for more information. All options are customisable and there are discounts for packaged deals.

Early Bird prices are available until the Call for Papers deadline in January 2026.
